

Just Enough Disclosure of Solar Warden and Secret Space Program

Michael Salla, Richard Syrett

Just Enough Disclosure of Solar Warden and the Secret Space Program

Psychological Eye Candy or Earthshaking Tremors?

It's coming soon, what will it be?

Historically membership organizations like MUFON and BUFORA and authors like Raymond Fowler, Timothy Good and Stephen Greer have led the charge to tell the public UFOs are real and provide enough nuts and bolts evidence that only the swamp gas brain-washed would contest the UFO presence. The non-stop government induced 'controversy' and denial status was maintained to keep the public confused about the subject in perpetuity. It is not that the facts were ever unknown or in doubt in military circles especially after the Battle of Los Angeles and the many massive flyovers of Washington DC.

What the military knew would have been very shocking to the public and if any member of the public got too vocal about the truth, they were told in no uncertain terms to keep their mouths shut or else. The backdrop is a long series of events and tug of war of political and corporate realities. This meant fabricating a history for public consumption to be taught in schools and pushed out in disinformation campaigns. After year 2000 this strategy changed to allow controlled leaks by whistleblowers and encourage peeks at technologies of the future. The major movie Above Majestic and the Cosmic Disclosure series with over 200 episodes on Gaia.com are examples of extensive revelations exposing the Secret Space Program that can be found by any curious person using a basic search engine.

THE SHORT OF IT

The short of it is that we won the land war in Europe against Hitler and lost the UFO technology war for many decades while a breakaway Fourth Reich retreated to Argentina and Antarctica. By the time Reagan took office we had advanced to the point where we could time travel, venture off into other galaxies and maintain bases on the moon and other planets. Large Solar Warden fleets produced by the U.S. Navy's Secret Space Program were patrolling out solar system. News of this would not reach public ears for decades.

Regardless of this seeming secret success story, all was not well. We were still playing catch up. The Draco-backed Germanic off-planet faction, The Dark Fleet, was still stronger and better equipped and our efforts backed by another Galactic faction was struggling against the influence of a corrupt Interplanetary Corporate Conglomerate (ICC) that was selling off-planet technology to the highest bidder. In the end, in 2021, we only won this war after an appeal for additional help from a friendly Galactic Federation. With the top of the puppet master control structure gone, what remained was a mop up brick by brick of the collapsing massive corruption put in place with the advent of Operation Paperclip. "Never interfere with an enemy in the process of destroying himself." The top of pyramid is gone and all manner of nonsense is playing itself out as the money and ammunition dries up.

That dismantling is full steam ahead as the military uses space age tools to identify traitors and gather evidence. By the end of 2023 we will be living in a very changed world and declassification of hitherto secret materials will begin at a controlled pace throughout the year. The shocks will be palpable as we see evil unveiled eyeball to eyeball. The less exopolitics you know, the bigger the surprises.

THE LONG OF IT

The earliest off-planet interventions in earth affairs go back hundreds of thousands of years and Zecharia Sitchin talks about that period in his books. Those are not at issue. The military problems for us started when Dracos decided to help Hitler make and militarize these UFO crafts in Germany in the 1930's. This alarming development was monitored by Naval Intelligence by Admiral Rick Obatta. His spies even brought back an operating manual. The Dracos knew Hitler would lose the war and helped him set up slave operated factories in giant thermal ice caves in Antarctica and assured that Adolf would have a cozy home in Argentina after the land war and that he would have a firm grip. This missing piece of our past is detailed by Dr. Michael Salla in his excellent book Antarctica's Hidden History. Corporate Foundations of Secret Space Programs. Dr. Salla also gives a long nicely illustrated public talk that covers similar ground to his book which reveals what he discovered has been occurring in Antarctica deep under the ice, that there has been a flourishing set of programs involving Germans that were able to escape to Antarctica just before the end of the Second World War and US corporations that have been working with the Germans in developing advanced technologies for use in a dark secret space program that has been used for colonizing other planets for being able to establish bases throughout several solar systems.

We have many treaties and technology exchange programs in place which enrich our military with medical marvels, free energy devices, like portable cold fusion, multiple propulsion technologies, quantum computing and materials science breakthroughs. These are locked up in thousands of sealed patents unavailable to the general public. Trump tried to change this for selected health and energy patents and his efforts were blocked.

One excuse for not telling us about them is just where these things came from is a big secret and if we let loose of them then people would begin to think for themselves and unravel the massive pack of gaslighting. So we suffer to protect what? Is there anybody alive on the planet who does not know they cannot trust official proclamations, especially with the vast COVID hypocrisy and genocidal outcome? How many people are left that trust doctors and politicians? Disclosures are inherently interdependent. What is needed is an interlocking form of assurance and reparations that restore a level playing field to Truth-telling in public life.

The more justifiable reason to measure your secrets is economic consequences. What would a world of free energy look like? Who would benefit and who would lose and how much would they lose and how could that be graduated to accommodate job retraining and resource utilization. This turns into a major planning exercise. There are certainly lots of smart people thinking about this on the inside. The question is can they be trusted as impartial arbiters? Trust needs to be universal, to cross all boundaries for public confidence to flourish.

The NASA program was a sham cover story used to distract the public from what was really going on and to try to convince us that other planets were uninhabitable and the distances to interesting places were technically insurmountable. Lots of people thought NASA was truthful and will take such shocks personally.

The truth is orders of magnitude more complex than the trivia NASA handed out. The advancements available are hundreds if not thousands of years beyond the comprehension of current science and technology. This is not just about telling secrets. It's about re-education, resources, planning, equity, values, diplomacy, the list goes on. It is nothing short of a planned restructuring of an entire planetary society, a really big deal. Is this the devolution that is being talked about? It is also about meeting the criteria for us to be a respected member of the Galactic community that helped us untangle and remove this massive invasive malevolent intervention into our planetary affairs.

For this to happen with the consent of the governed we need to know what is going on and why so our intelligent voices are heard and respected. For our individual, national and planetary sovereignty to happen we need to be informed citizens worldwide. That has obviously not been happening and somehow we need to find a map for that path. The unawake and unaware need a shakeup to get them on-board and that shakeup starts bigtime in 2023!

Coming soon to a tribunal near you?

Now the baton passes to a detailed discussion of these issues in interview format.

Secret Antarctic UFO Bases and the Galactic Federation

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Y4thxeXZ9gY> Jul 31, 2022 2 hours

Richard Syrett and Dr. Michael Salla give a 2022 Bird's Eye View of Exopolitics

Announcer

Richard Syrett's Strange Planet, following the truth, wherever it leads, exposing evil and corruption and the secret machinations of powerful elites, revealing the high strangeness beneath the surface of our supposed reality, coming to you from the great white north and his studio beneath the stairs. Here's Richard

Richard

Welcome to the audio Imaginarium come on in weary traveler hang your cloak on a peg, grab a stool and come warm yourself by the fire. There are stories to be told. And you are among friends. We're going to delve into a fascinating area tonight, the Galactic Federation, Dr. Michael Salla is with us. He's a pioneer in the development of exopolitics, the author of, what is it now, twelve books and that includes Kennedy's Last Stand, as well as Galactic Diplomacy. He was an assistant professor and researcher in residence in the School of International Service at the American University from 1996 to 2004. He has a PhD in government from the University of Queensland, Australia. And he's also the founder of the Exopolitics Institute, a nonprofit organization that analyzes the political implications of the extraterrestrial presence. Most recently, he's the author of Space Force, our Star Trek future, which is the sixth book, and his secret space program series. Dr. Salla welcome to the program. How are you?

Dr. Salla

I'm great. Thank you. Thanks for having me on the show. Richard.

Richard

Let's just start with a basic overview. When we're talking about the Galactic Federation, what are we talking about here?

Dr. Salla

Well, we're talking about an organization, an association of extraterrestrial civilizations, which has a particular set of goals that is embraced by all members. So this is analogous to how we get organizations on Earth, like the United Nations, the European Union, where you have member states, accepting certain principles that they organize around, and it would be illogical to think that extraterrestrial civilizations would not have something similar happening. And of course, that's always been an issue that's been kind of like, speculated about, I mean, there have been people that talked about it going all the way back to 1952, when there was the first reference to a Galactic Federation by one of the early contactees, which was Daniel Fry. And he talked about a Galactic Federation then. But what really got people talking about such an organization being relevant to our Earth today is statements by a professor Haim Eshed in December of 2020, when he said that there was a Galactic Federation, and it had made contact with the Trump administration. And while the Trump administration was wanting to disclose the existence of this organization, according to Eshed, he said that this Galactic Federation said the time wasn't yet right, that humanity still isn't ready, because we don't have the sufficient level of technological sophistication to have this kind of like revealed to the planet. So apparently, this is why Space Force is being accelerated. Why they really pushing the human presence into space, because I think that the agenda is that eventually you can't stop the revelation that there are extraterrestrial civilizations visiting our planet, and that they are organized into organizations such as this Galactic Federation,

Richard

So Haim Eshed, was he with the Israeli, was it the military, he kind of disappeared off the radar. But what was his position in Israel?

Dr. Salla

Well, he was the father of Israel's spy satellite program. So he was the guy that set it all up. I think it was from 1981 to around 2012 or 13, something like that. It was close to 30 years that he ran that spy satellite program, which really was something that would have put him within the purview of some of America's most secretive organizations such as the National Reconnaissance Office. And because the National Reconnaissance Office has spy satellites out there, pointed both towards the Earth and also away from the Earth, they would know about visiting extraterrestrial life. And so Eshed ran Israel's equivalent to the National Reconnaissance Office, where he actually had responsibility for sending up Israel's first spy satellites and maintaining these, and to like, assess the intelligence data what, what are they picking up. I mean, it wasn't just a matter of earthbound spacecraft, or earthbound aerospace vehicles. It was also stuff approaching the earth, that the spy satellites were monitoring. So that was his background. So he had a very significant history, running the spy satellite program, he attained the rank of brigadier general in the Israeli Defense Force. So this was a guy that was really up there in terms of high level access. So if he's saying that there's a Galactic Federation, that is monitoring the earth and interacting with top officials within administered presidential administrations, then I think that's something that shows how important it is that we start to investigate this.

Richard

Right. And what I said he kind of disappeared off the radar. I mean, is that accurate? I mean, I haven't heard that. I mean, after he made that announcement, there was no sort of follow up. There was no, I don't know. Journalists didn't go back to him and ask for clarification, he just sort of made the statement. And that was it. And then I don't know, have we heard from him since.

Dr. Salla

Not, as far as I'm aware, I mean, he gave an interview in Israel, because his book had just been published in Hebrew. So as far as I know, it hasn't been translated yet into English. So he gave an interview. And that interview was translated into English and picked up by a number of Israeli news media. And that's where he was quoted saying that the Galactic Federation is monitoring the earth and interacting with the Trump administration. But after that interview, he really just kind of dropped off the map. I mean, he's officially retired, so he is kind of pretty reclusive. And a lot of these scientific colleagues kind of said, "wow he must have lost he lost his marbles or something to be saying such nonsensical things", but others rallied to his defense and said, "Look, I know Professor Eshed and have spoken to him recently, and he's as lucid as they come, he hasn't lost it. He really has an acute understanding of what's happening around the place". So I think that they really rally to his defense, but he himself has just pretty much dropped off the map and hasn't done any. He hasn't done any English interviews in English, as far as I know. It's just that early one in Hebrew. And yes, I think he put out the information and now he's just sitting back and watching the reaction.

Richard

Did he attempt to explain how he received this information? Is he a contactee? Did the Federation communicate with him telepathically? Or was it just based on his own intelligence?

Dr. Salla

At a very high level Earth is being visited by extraterrestrial civilizations and they are organized politically into groups such as this Galactic Federation. That would be very highly classified information, so he couldn't just straight out come out and say, well, the Israeli spy service says so after analyzing the data that we've collected, and we've made contact, or we have been briefed about contact.

He would have to kind of like speak of it in a roundabout way, citing kind of public sources or open source literature, making out that, well this is what's being said in the open source literature.

So that's just a way the intelligence community operates because you can't come out straight and say, Well, I read this in a briefing, or this is what this is what our own intelligence analysts are telling us from analyzing the data because that's classified. You can't talk about that. But you can say, well there are people talking about the Galactic Federation, and, and he mentioned the great granddaughter of President Eisenhower, Laura Eisenhower, and kind of mentioned there are people like that talking about the Galactic Federation. And so that's how he kind of like was able to present it as though he was just looking at open source literature and saying, yes, in my opinion, there is the Galactic Federation, but I think given his high level and status, I think he was really just alluding to what he is officially aware of, but using open source information.

Richard

Alright, so getting back to the Galactic Federation, how many? And these are all ET civilizations existing within the Milky Way hence, galactic? How many do we have a number? How many civilizations we're talking about? Is it 40? Is it thousands tens of thousands?

Dr. Salla

What I've heard is it's in the hundreds. I mean, that does vary, but definitely, it is an organization that has spacefaring extraterrestrial civilizations from all over our galaxy. And the really interesting thing here, in looking at all of this is there have been claims made, that this Galactic Federation has been working with U.S. Space Command, and with the U.S. Navy, going back to the 1950s.

And one of the people that I interviewed and looked at very closely in terms of my secret space program book series was a retired aerospace illustrator, engineer by the name of William Tompkins. And he talked about these Nordic extraterrestrials that were helping the U.S. Navy develop, a secret space program in the 1950s. And his job was to help design some of these kilometer long space carriers and all that was being done in the 1950s, '60s. And these carriers were deployed in the 70s. Well, apparently, he was saying that there were these groups of human looking extraterrestrials, which today, we can say pretty clearly that this was the Galactic Federation that was helping the U.S. Navy develop this.

So yes, there's been a long history of development of the U.S. Navy's Secret Space Program by the Galactic Federation. And so then this is where you come into information that Gene Roddenberry was actually briefed about this Navy secret space program and about the existence of the Galactic Federation. And here's the thing that's really mind blowing, is because of the advanced technology, space time technology that is used by extraterrestrials, that they were able to go back and either pick up Gene Roddenberry or someone else that worked with him in the development of the Star Trek franchise, which I believe was Leslie Stevens IV, son of a vice admiral, and take them into the 2030s or 40s, when the earth was a member of the Galactic Federation, and he experienced that and then went back and was told, "okay, go for it present this in a television series. This is the way to prepare people for our future". So this is the kind of information that I think is very, very credible, that in fact the Galactic Federation, has been helping us going back to the 1950s and that our future is one way we as a planetary civilization, and members of the Galactic Federation.

Richard

So our future basically is Star Trek.

Dr. Salla

That's exactly right, that Star Trek wasn't science fiction, it was actually a soft disclosure, initiative backed by the US Navy. And in my one of my books, actually, the last book that you mentioned Space Force, our Star Trek future, I actually have a chapter where I talk about Gene Roddenberry and his association with Leslie Stevens, and that this was where he learned about the Navy Secret Space Program, and that the Navy was being helped by this Galactic Federation. And that this was something that was a soft disclosure initially, because you just couldn't come out and say, well, there's a Galactic Federation out there using all of these kind of spacetime technologies at that time, because technologically, apparently we weren't ready. If we weren't ready in December of 2020, in the 1950s and 60s, we weren't ready by a longshot. But we're getting closer and closer. And I think this is why Space Force and the creation of Space Command and the ratification of the Artemis accords, now I think they've had 21 nations sign on to the Artemis Accords, that this is all the kind of foundation for Earth, forming a kind of like united planetary system of governance that would then make the earth eligible for membership within the Galactic Federation.

Richard

What are the Artemis accords?

Dr. Salla

Well, the Artemis Accords are a set of bilateral agreements between the United States and at the moment 20 other countries, which includes some of the major spacefaring nations such as France, Britain, Germany, Japan, Australia, Canada, other nations such as Israel, Brazil, have recently signed on, South Korea, so 21 nations in all are part of the Artemis accords.

And the Artemis accords are designed to foster collaboration between all of the signatory nations in terms of harvesting the resources of space. And also, the Artemis accords, has within it provisions for the protection of any activities by member states in space. And they declare that they call these regions where member states have ongoing projects in space, safety zones, and that any member state that's involved in setting up or working within one of these safety zones, can be protected by all necessary measures from any kind of adverse influences. And so that's really setting up the Space Command, where it's not just the United States, but a collaboration of the major spacefaring nations. At the moment there's something called the Combined Space Operations initiative, which integrates the Five Eyes nations space commands, or their military space units, the United States, Canada, Australia, Britain and New Zealand, but they've been joined also by France and Germany. So that is kind of the seed for what will be a future Starfleet. So it's really being created right now. So the Artemis accord is like a civilian program set up so that all the signatory states can go out into space, either through government programs, or through corporate programs, where they collaborate, set up safety zones and kind of harvest the resources of space. But they also going to be protected by this combined Space Command Initiative, where the major nations will integrate their militaries into a unified Space Command. And so this is how they are preparing the foundation, or laying the groundwork for in the future, revealing the existence of what is called by many who have been looking at the Secret Space Programs, Solar Warden, which is a secret space program that was set up and run by the U.S. Navy, but has since integrated with a number of other nations as such as the Echelon countries and, and France.

Richard

So, the presence of the Galactic Federation, currently on the earth, around the Earth, are they basically surrounding us protecting us from intrusion from, let's say, more hostile civilizations.

Dr. Salla

That's currently the situation. It wasn't always like this. There have been more hostile civilizations that essentially we've had established a very powerful presence on the earth, but the Galactic Federation has helped bring about a change in the status quo, where those hostile extraterrestrials have pretty much left our solar system to give us room to decide where we are going to go as a planetary civilization. And the Galactic Federation has a number, and here I'm estimating, but I think they probably have several thousand infiltrators or people that have integrated at all levels of society, in the major nations on the earth to really help bring about our awareness and nurture us towards this future where we are going to be part of the Galactic Federation. So they're really trying to help allay people's fears about extraterrestrial life. And this goes all the way back to the 1950s where you had the famous contactees George Adamski, Howard Menger, Orfeo Angelucci and many others talking about these human looking extraterrestrials, that were here to help us.

So this has been going on for many generations. And I think we've now reached that point, Richard, we are becoming a planet that has a very strong foothold in space, that previously up until 2019. It was all done clandestinely. It was all done through the Secret Space Program programs. But now through the creation of Space Force, these combined Space Command initiatives through the Artemis Accords, we are projecting our presence into deep space. And this is going to be something that is going to be at a global level, not just secret government programs and military programs.

Richard

I mentioned six books in the Secret Space series, there are now seven, the brand new one out this May, number seven is Galactic Federations, Councils and Secret Space Programs. Getting back to the purpose of the Galactic Federation, how are they shielding the Earth from let's say hostile intruders? Do they have a large fleet out there that is cloaked that is basically sort of cocooning our planet?

Dr. Salla

Well, the way I understand it is that there have been a number of extraterrestrial civilizations and organizations that have been competing for influence over the earth for many generations. But what's recently changed is that there has been an incursion of a very powerful group of extraterrestrials that are associated with the founding of life, human life on Earth, they go by various names, they're called The Seeders they're called the Intergalactic Confederation. Some call them the Guardians. This is a group of civilizations, which is very similar to what Zecharia Sitchin described in terms of the Anunnaki that played a role in the seeding of extraterrestrials going back as far as 500,000 years, and there are other sources as well, that talked about these seeder civilizations going way back, and they're different from the Galactic Federation. The Galactic Federation is pretty much a kind of military style organization that tries to counteract the influence of negative races using their military force. This other group, the Intergalactic Confederation, the way I understand it, they're more or less kind of like the ones that make the rules. They're the ones that kind of set out the rules for how this conflict between organizations such as the Galactic Federation, and negative extraterrestrial groups are conducted.

And so it seems that what we are witnessing right now is that this is a unique time. There have been a number of sources that talk about the return of these fleets of extraterrestrial civilizations that are new to our solar system that haven't been around for a very long time.

And one of my sources, is actually currently serving in the U.S. Army. I just use the acronym JP, and he was sent on a mission under the U.S. Space Command. So this was a secret mission that he was sent on with a number of others, to one of Jupiter's moons, Ganymede, where Space Command, as well as the militaries of other countries traveled to meet these fleets of incoming extraterrestrials that were part of this, of these Seeder races. So the meetings occurred. And they're here to kind of watch the end result of this grand experiment, apparently, like we are part of a grand experiment and the outcome is something of great interest to the Galactics. And either we would graduate into something much greater to become part of the Galactic Federation, and to become like a spacefaring civilization outside of our solar system, or we would implode in a similar way to Atlantis did 11,000 years ago, or 12,000 years ago, so they're here to watch that. And part of the process of them coming here to watch that is that that means that nothing can be done in our solar system, which is detrimental to human free will. It all has to happen with our own free will. So the negative races have departed. They've left our solar system because that's what they do. They kind of come in violate human will in very surreptitious ways, and then they kind of sit back and watch how much damage they've done.

So right now, we have kind of like a breathing space where we either implode as a planetary civilization. I mean, it's very easy to see that right now in Ukraine. I mean, if NATO were to kind of go into Ukraine or Russia was to attack a NATO nation, I mean, you could have like a nuclear war that could very quickly spread. So and the same with that Taiwan.

So what we have is a possibility that the Earth can descend, I mean, as unbelievable as it appears that the Earth can descend into a kind of nuclear war, that would be very, very devastating for the entire planet, and possibly disrupt the viability of life on the planet, or we can ascend into this, like higher dimensional reality where we now become members of the Galactic Federation.

Richard

So are we essentially, until we prove our, our motivations are pure, are we under quarantine?

Dr. Salla

We are under, well, quarantine isn't quite the right word for because we've had secret space programs that have traveled throughout our solar system and have also traveled outside of our solar system and done many things that are not very good in terms of our reputation within the solar system, but as far as the large majority of our planet is concerned, yes, we're kind of like Earthbound. Unless you were actually like, a mercenary force recruited by one of these negative extraterrestrial groups, you really weren't allowed to go too far into space. So essentially, we were kind of like being quarantined.

But now we, as a total planetary civilization, haven't been allowed to go too far, other than just setting up a few landers to the moon. But now there's been a profound shift, because the groundwork has been laid, because there is time travel technology, which is called Looking Glass technology, where they can foresee where we are going as a planetary civilization. And so the best projections are that we're going to make it through this dark period.

This is a test. And I think the test is, will we as a planet go down this path of vilifying and doing a cancel culture against other countries? And kind of like permitting, kind of like unrestricted warfare against a country like Russia with the world's largest nation by landmass with nuclear weapons?

Are people just going to sit back and allow that to escalate or they can, at some point say no. There needs to be a diplomatic solution to this, because there cannot be a military solution to Ukraine, because any military solution to Ukraine is going to end up with Ukraine being wiped out as a sovereign nation, and it either being controlled by Russia, or just obliterated because of some nuclear conflagration there. So there needs to be a peaceful outcome. And that's our test as a civilization, I believe what we're witnessing in Ukraine, people have to stand up and say, "No, this cannot be allowed to escalate it. There needs to be a diplomatic solution."

Richard

The Galactic Federation, would they prevent a nuclear war? Would they prevent world war three? Because we've heard since 1966, at least about UFO incursions over nuclear sites and in the Soviet Union and in the United States, disabling missile silos and so forth.

Dr. Salla

Yes, that's been going on for many decades. And the people that have been talking about how extraterrestrials or UFOs have been disrupting nuclear facilities and missiles for many, many decades. So I think that what that has shown is that they would prevent any kind of accidental nuclear strike, or any kind of large scale conflagration involving the superpowers. But, I mean, if nuclear weapons were to be used for a kind of like, a limited military campaign, I mean, if Russia and NATO go head to head, would there be tactical nuclear weapons used? And I think that would be something that would be kind of like in the vicinity of the atomic bombs dropped on Nagasaki in terms of yield. We're talking like 15 or 25 kilotons, which would be tactical nuclear weapons.

But in terms of hydrogen bombs, I mean, those that are destructive in the megaton range I don't think they would be used because they would obliterate entire cities or nations. But certainly tactical nuclear weapons, I think that that's a possibility.

Richard

It would be permitted. We would be permitted to "play around" if I can use that term with those, but not something that is potentially a planet killer. If the Federation has the ability to intervene, shut down missile silos, where were they in August of 1945 when the United States dropped bombs on Nagasaki and Hiroshima?

But because those would fall under the label of tactical nuclear weapons, they allowed that, not necessarily that they approved of it, obviously, but they allowed for that. Is that the idea?

Dr. Salla

Yes, because when you look at new those tactical nuclear weapons, I mean, the ones that were dropped on Japan, I mean, in terms of destructive power, that they weren't all that different from these kind of like, bomber fleets that were going across Germany during the latter part of Second World War and, and destroying cities like Dresden.

They were sending fleets of like 1000 bombers dropping really incredible tonnage of TNT and destroying entire areas.

So tactical nuclear weapons have a similar destructive power. So they are very similar to conventional weapons in that regard. It's just when you get to thermonuclear weapons that we're talking like megaton yields, I think that's where, and that actually is the case, because I recall, in the early 1950s, when there was this contactee by the name of George Van Tassel, he was getting information, messages from the Ashtar Command. And he was being told that the Ashtar Command was very firmly against the development of thermonuclear weapons, and that they were warning about the destructive power of these weapons. So they didn't say anything about fission bombs. They didn't say anything about atomic bombs, which had already been dropped. But they were saying that the thermonuclear weapons were the ones that greatly concern them. So I think it was had something to do with the hydrogen atom being used for thermonuclear weapons that they were concerned about a runaway effect that a like a chain reaction that could set the entire atmosphere aflame, that was that was what Van Tassel was warned about. So definitely the Galactic Federation makes a clear distinction between fission bombs and fusion bombs using the hydrogen element.

Richard

You mentioned the Ashtar Command. So can you give us a sense of the, I guess the organizational structure of the Galactic Federation? I mean, you mentioned this other Intergalactic group, which are kind of the Seeders or the Guardians and then you have the Galactic Federation, which is kind of like the military wing of the United Nations, maybe. But what is the structure? Who ultimately is in charge? Is it democratic? Do they have like a general assembly? How does it work?

Dr. Salla

Well, the way it works, as I understand it, is that they have commanders. It's like a military organization, kind of like NATO, just think of NATO. And you have a supreme commander of NATO. and he implements decisions by political representatives. So in the in the case of the Galactic Federation, they look to some of these higher councils that give them advice in terms of what needs to be done.

So there are groups. I mentioned, the Intergalactic Confederation, there are other organizations. The Ashtar Command is also a military organization similar to the Galactic Federation of Worlds, but they answer to groups such as the Andromeda Council, the Council of Nine, the Council of Five, so there are different councils out there. And these councils are not military, they operate on a system where they have beings that are kind of more in tune with higher galactic law, cosmic consciousness. So they are very highly evolved beings that can operate at the fifth, sixth or seventh density. So these are kind of spiritual beings that then relay to the Galactic Federation information about what needs to be done. So for example, the Andromeda Council, which is a scientific organization, they informed the Galactic Federation that the earth was being manipulated into providing mercenary forces for one of these negative extraterrestrial groups. And so the Galactic Federation needed to intervene to prevent the earth evolving down this negative timeline, where we would essentially become a planet providing millions or hundreds of millions of mercenaries for one of these negative extraterrestrial groups that would use our planet as a kind of like breeding ground for super soldiers that would then be sent off to fight in these interstellar wars on behalf of this negative extraterrestrial organization. So the Andromeda Council informed the Galactic Federation that this was going on and that they needed to come here and counteract what was what the negative groups were doing here. So that's what's happened.

Richard

I'd like to explore that a little bit further, if we could tell us more about which negative ET civilization, I guess, coopted us and where our troops were being sent. I don't know if this has anything to do with Captain Kramer who claims that he went to fight on Mars, that humans were being manipulated, tricked by some negative ET civilization to send mercenaries to fight alongside them or on their behalf in some other galactic war. Can you give me more details on that?

Dr. Salla

Sure. Well, this is something I discussed in Book Three of the secret space program series where I talked about Antarctic's hidden history, corporate foundations of Secret Space Programs, and I talked about a breakaway civilization in Antarctica that was formed by a [large] number of Germans that fled there after the Second World War, that left the occupied Germany. They left and formed this breakaway civilization in Antarctica. And this was a result of Nazi Germany having reached agreements with a reptilian species called the Dracos, or the Draco Reptilians. And this was actually known to the U.S. Navy at the time, William Tompkins, was part of an espionage program ran out of Naval Air Station, San Diego, where they learned about this. And so it was only after the Second World War, that they were able to confirm that this had actually happened. And so as a result of that group, the breakaway group in Antarctica being helped by these draconian reptilians, they grew in power and eventually reached agreements with the U.S. And so the U.S. began working with them, the U.S. supplied manpower, resources and people and the Germans in Antarctica provided scientific know how on how to reverse engineer extraterrestrial spacecraft, because the Germans were way ahead of the U.S. in doing that. So that was the trade. And the result was that Antarctica became a vast industrial hub for building spacecraft that would be used by this German Dark Fleet as it was called, and that they would go off in fight alongside the reptilians in these interstellar wars of conquest, and they would attack worlds that were populated by humans, because this is the way in which the draconian alliances operated. They would use mercenary humans to attack worlds populated by humans. But they would do it in a way where they would first be kind of an infiltration where the humans would show up and pretend to be good guys there to help them against some, some imaginary or some contrived force. So it's very sophisticated the way they were doing it.

Richard

So this area in the Antarctic, is this New Schwabenland we're talking about?

Dr. Salla

Correct? Yes. New Schwabenland was where the earliest bases were built under the ice sheets.

Richard

So I mean, initially, my understanding was that the United States was concerned about Nazi Germany and the presence of UFOs down in the Antarctic, and so they sent a force down there, a fighting force. Was that Operation Highjump? And they were defeated, the Americans, by this alien technology, if I'm understanding you correctly. They basically then decided to, after they were defeated, they decided, okay, well, let's partner with the Nazis and the Draco's. Is that what happened? Am I reading that correctly?

Dr. Salla

Yes, there was a sequence there because they were defeated in February of 1947 by this German Dark Fleet out of Antarctica. And so that's when the UFO sightings grew very rapidly in the United States. So, Kenneth Arnold, that's a good example. I mean, he saw these, he saw a formation of nine wing-shaped craft that was operating in Washington State. And that was an example of some of the crafts that had come from Antarctica, that we're now able to overfly U.S. territory. Admiral Byrd issued a warning when he traveled back to United States. He was interviewed by a Spanish journalist writing for one of the papers out of Chile called El Mercurial. And he referred to "a new enemy that could fly from pole to pole". So essentially what happened was that the Germans after defeating Operation Highjump, they defeated the best that the Navy could throw at them. So now they began overflying U.S. territory, and they began engaging with the U.S. Air Force. So they gave the Air Force a bloody nose as well. And actually it's documented that President Truman did give shootdown orders to the Air Force to shoot down these foes. And you had a tremendous number of Air Force craft crashing. As far as statistics were concerned, there are a lot of Air Force craft crashing from the period from 1947 up until 1954. But it was in 1952 you then have the overflights of Washington DC. This was a combination of German craft out of Antarctica and extraterrestrial craft as well, flying over Washington DC on three successive weekends in July of 1952 and again in 1954 and '55. This is when there were face to face meetings and agreements were reached with the Eisenhower administration.

Richard

That's right, that's when he supposedly slipped away for an emergency dental appointment, but in fact, Eisenhower was at Edwards Air Force Base, or where was he meeting?

Dr. Salla

Well, he went to Edwards Air Force Base, and that's when he met with representatives from the Galactic Federation of Worlds. And they told him to stop the thermonuclear weapons program, because that's when they did the Bravo Castle test on March 1 1954, which was a 15 megaton nuclear bomb that was that was detonated in the bikini atoll. So the Galactic Federation told Eisenhower look, "you need to stop putting into the thermonuclear weapons program, and we'll help you. We will help your technological evolution. But first you need to develop ethically and spiritually."

So, Eisenhower's national security advisors told Eisenhower "No, don't agree with these guys. We'll work with the other ones."

Richard

The Dracos, in other words.

Dr. Salla

The Draco's, there's another group called the Orion collective, or the Orion Syndicate, if you like that's very similar to what's depicted in the Star Trek franchise as well. So there's a group from Orion and they also came on the scene, tall Greys from the Orion collective. And so at Holloman Air Force Base in February of 1955, that's when Eisenhower went to meet with representatives of this Dark Fleet-Orion-Draco Alliance, and agreements were made.

And this is how then the U.S., shortly after that, began sending enormous amounts of personnel and equipment down to Antarctica to help the German Space Program in return, the Germans were helping the U.S. Air Force and the Navy develop their secret space programs.

Richard

We were talking earlier about that "deal with the devil" I guess you could call it that, that Eisenhower made in '55 at Edward Holloman Air Force Base, to go in with essentially the Nazis and their base, their Dark Fleet in the Antarctic New Schwabenland and the Draco's, and the I believe he called it the Orion syndicate.

So this is kind of is this where also American foreign policy goes off the rails and we start to see the CIA involved in coups all over the world, overthrowing a democratically elected leader in Iran. Guatemala, you name it, Allende in Chile is taken out by the by the US intelligence apparatus. Is there a relationship there between that deal that Eisenhower made with in '55 at Holloman and American foreign policy thereafter?

Dr. Salla

There definitely is a connection. Allen Dulles was the CIA director, and he was the one running a lot of these covert programs. And he was also the guy that made the deals or he was the one that organized the negotiations between the U.S. and the Germans out of Antarctica. And Dulles's history with the Nazi party goes back a long, long way, I mean, he and his brother, John Foster Dulles. So Allen Dulles and John Foster Dulles, in 1933, actually traveled to Nazi Germany, and met with Adolf Hitler and they supported German industrialists who wanted to back Hitler to come to power because they thought that Hitler would help Germany industrialize.

And so the Dulles brothers had a long association with the Third Reich and during the Second World War, Allen Dulles actually headed the negotiations between Nazi Germany and the Allied Powers, especially towards the end when the Germans were starting to negotiate this surrender. So it was Dulles that was involved in those negotiations. So Dulles was the natural go between the Eisenhower administration and the Germans in Antarctica, and he was also the head of the CIA.

Now, once the deals were made, the US would send enormous resources to Antarctica and also manpower for the Germans to build up their Dark Fleet. There needed to be an enormous amount of funding for that. How could you send billions and billions of dollars of funding to Antarctica without Congress knowing about it? You certainly couldn't ask Congress, "we want you to give us $50 billion to fund the Germans in Antarctica, because that's the agreement we've reached with them." You couldn't. You had to do it all off the books.

So the way that the CIA did it was that they organized international conflicts and coups and so forth, to create cover so that they could raise enormous amounts of money, whether it was plundering the resources of the states that were toppled, organizing a massive drug trade and [trafficking]. This is something that CIA has long used to raise enormous amounts of money, pump and dump economics, using international conflict as the means by which you can manipulate international markets, however you want it.

So this, this was how the CIA did it, using these covert programs. And they could raise hundreds of billions of dollars a year without the U.S. Congress knowing about it. And the thing is the U.S. Congress gave the CIA this statutory power in 1949 under this under the CIA act, so the 1949 CIA Act gave the CIA the statutory authority to move funding from any government institution without recourse to law. I mean, that's actually law, they can actually do that.

They're the only government agency that can siphon money from anywhere through any federal government entity and the CIA can then funnel it into the Pentagon. And the Pentagon has the statutory authority to receive money without any explanation. And this is actually the way in which the official black budget operates. There's an official black budget, and that's estimated today to be about $80 billion. And people who research black budgets that move through Congress, they typically look at the official black budget, which is the money which is intended to go towards funding the intelligence community without anyone being able to keep track of exactly how much the CIA is getting, how much the NSA is getting, how much the NRO is getting and so forth.

That's the official black budget, which is about $80 billion a year today. But the unofficial black budget is in excess of a trillion dollars in year, one trillion. Now, currently, the Pentagon budget is about 800 billion. So this black budget, which was developed in the 1950s to fund all these covert programs, has always exceeded the budget of the Pentagon.

Richard

Right. Reminds me of Donald Rumsfeld just before 911 talking about what was it? The missing money was did he say, $2.1 trillion on September 10?

All right, so all of this money, all of this black ops money, all of these resources are being funneled into this this base in the Antarctic.

Are they sending troops down there to go off planet to fight in wars? And do we have like receipts? Can we say, wait a minute, we can show you where there vast amounts of troops being sent to the Antarctic, or how do we know?

Dr. Salla

Well, Antarctica was more the industrial manufacturing hub, and they also conducted a lot of experiments down there with captive humans. But as far as the troops were concerned, they were sent off planet via the Lunar Operations Command. And that was an old Nazi base on the Moon that was given over to the US in the 1970s as a result of these agreements.

The troops to be trained to be super soldiers, they would receive additional training, they would sign papers, they would have medical procedures done on them to enhance their abilities. They would have their minds wiped at the end of the tour of duty, and they would then be sent thousands and thousands of troops at a time. They will even go to places like Mars, where they would serve alongside the Germans in attacking the indigenous Martian civilizations that lived underground there.

And they will also go deep into space to serve in interstellar wars, alongside the Germans, who were the commanders. And the way it worked was that the Germans ran the Dark Fleet. So we're talking to senior positions like the admirals and so forth captains, they would be Germans, but the mercenaries or the auxiliary forces that they got from the US or the French, or the British, that they would form the kind of middle core of the officer class. So you'd have majors, Lieutenant Colonel's, commanders operating at that level to kind of like take control of the troops, because you will have thousands of Americans or British or French, serving in this Dark Fleet. And that was that was the agreement, and that they would serve alongside them. And that was that was how they would get their advanced technology.

So that's been going on for many decades now. And all of this was hidden, because the funding for that was all siphoned through different government agencies and in particular, NASA. NASA was the first one because NASA was the natural to hide all of these secret activities in space. And so what would happen would be that you would have like, a recruit at, say, the Marine Corps bootcamp, a young Marine gets offered to take part in a covert secret space program.

And so this is a young guy, and he's gung ho. And it's like, yes so, in addition to serving in the Marines for four years, or whatever, that they would get to go into space. So that would start off, and so they would go, and they would sign recruitment papers with NASA.

Now, why NASA? You have to ask yourself, why NASA? Well, NASA, at the very beginning, was run by the Germans, or at least the Apollo program. And that's actually a fact that's verifiable because the Kennedy Space Center was run by a former Nazi, Kurt Debus, who was a general in the Nazi SS. And then the person running the Marshall Space Flight Center, which was in control of the overall Apollo program in terms of resources and how they were to be spent and allocated and so forth, was Dr. Verner von Braun, another Nazi.

Richard?

All brought over through paperclip, right? Operation Paperclip.

Dr. Salla

Exactly. so that was the cover. Operation Paperclip provided the cover for thousands of Germans to come in and occupy senior positions in the aerospace industry, so that they could then funnel all this money to the Germans in Antarctica, and in exchange, these German scientists from Paperclip would then receive all the scientific know how from their compatriots in Antarctica, and would then funnel that through to the American scientific institutions and corporations and so forth. So it was very beneficial for the Germans in Antarctica.

Richard

How do they account for all of these missing soldiers that went off planet if they were killed? I mean, they just disappeared. Didn't their families wonder what happened to them?

Dr. Salla

Well those that were killed, that didn't return, they could easily be explained away as having done covert missions for national security purposes and the families would receive a letter saying your son died, performing service to the United States military, and he's a hero, and so forth and so forth. And that's very easy to do for people that sign up to covert programs, because these people are these recruits when they're approached, and I've spoken to people who have gone through this process. You know of Randy Kramer, there are a number of others, Michael Gerloff served with the U.S. Marine Corps. There have been many others that went through a very similar process.

They join the Navy or the Marines or the Air Force, and at boot camp, they get approached and they're asked "Do you want to be part of a covert space program and 95% say, "Yes, for sure."

And so they sign papers. So they've signed papers that they are now going to be performing service for a covert program. If they die during that program, then, yes, the U.S. military will send a letter saying that your son performed covert missions for the military and unfortunately died.

Richard

And if they live and they come back their memories are wiped. Are they not wandering around wondering what happened to me the last three years or whatever, there should be thousands of them.

Dr. Salla

While the technology was so good that they could wipe out the memories so that essentially, they joined the military. They get approached early on by an officer in boot camp. If you're a young recruit, and you get approached by a captain or a major or something, they say, "I want to talk to you, we've noticed you" and so you get approached, and they say, "Do you want to sign? Do you want to be part of this covert program?" And they say, "yes." So as soon as they say, "yes," then they're taken out of the room taken off to Lunar Operations Command, where they sign the papers and so forth. And they perform their service, and if they've survived to the very end, 20 years, then they're kind of age regressed. And then their memories are wiped, and they're taken back in time to the precise moment when they joined.

So, essentially, then what happens is that they are then back into the office of that officer, and the officer has just been saying "do you want to join? Will you be part of this?" And they say, "yes", and then they get up or, or whatever. And when they're kind of like back in that room and their memory is hazy, they're confused, they're disoriented. And the captain will say to them, "Okay, we're done, you can go back your squad and complete your training. So now they go back to their bootcamp and they complete their training. And because bootcamp is so intense, it's the perfect cover, because you can't mess around and think, "oh, man, I have these strange memories". You're at bootcamp. You've got to do whatever is required for you for that three weeks, six weeks, whatever it is. So it's the perfect cover to recruit people take them off planet, they do "20 and back" and then they come back, and then they go through bootcamp, complete it. And yes, there are many people that have described a very similar process.

Richard

So meanwhile, all this money resources going one way, what is the technology coming back and into whose hands is it going?

Dr. Salla

Well, the Air Force was the main beneficiary and the CIA and the National Reconnaissance Office. Both created separate space programs and the Navy had its own space program. But as I mentioned, earlier in the show, the Navy was always working with the Galactic Federation. The Navy never really worked with the Draco's, or with the Greys or the Orion Alliance. The Navy monitored what was going on with the CIA and the Air Force, working with these groups, but the Navy was never part of those agreements. The Navy always worked with the Galactic Federation. So this was the way in which it was all set up.

The Air Force and the CIA the National Reconnaissance Office, they were the ones that benefited the most from the secret agreements and the collaboration with the Draco Reptilians and the Orion greys because they developed their own secret space programs using anti-gravity technologies, nuclear propulsion systems, torsion field physics and so forth to propel their craft. So this craft like the TR3B, that's been kind of like the main kind of showpiece of the Air Force Secret Space Program for many decades now, since the 1980s, that they had that.

Whereas the Navy had kilometer sized space carriers because they're because the Nordics or the Galactic Federation were more interested in helping the Navy get up to speed with the state of the art interstellar spacecraft. Whereas the Draco Reptilians and the Orion Greys they weren't interested in the U.S. Air Force or the NRO or the CIA, kind of like having the best stuff. They were giving them second hand or third hand stuff.

And so this was something that the Air Force guys did not get, the tip of the spear. But eventually they discovered this. They learned that the Navy had its own secret space program. They were furious because they thought they were the tip of the spear but they realized that they were, in essence really just a kind of planetary Coast Guard, and that that really pissed them off.

Richard

Well, it seems to me that that's a recipe for civil war within the United States, you've got the Navy that are in league with the Galactic Federation who, just in terms of shorthand, I'll call them the good guys and then you've got the Air Force and the CIA in league with Draco's, the Orion syndicate. Let's call those the black hats are the bad guys. I mean, at some point, they're going to be working at cross purposes aren't they? Aren't the Galactic Federation not seeing eye to eye with the Orion syndicate in the Draco's. How did that not create a perfect storm for like a civil war in the United States, or at least, the Air Force attacking the Navy or what have you?

Dr. Salla

Well, it was different functionalities. I mean, the Navy's Solar Warden program operated in deep space and they were working with the Galactic Federation, whereas the Air Force and the NRO, because they only ever got spacecraft that were capable of maybe flying to the moon, maybe missions to Mars, but they weren't genuinely interstellar craft that could travel to the ends of our solar system.

The Air Force and the CIA in the NRO were deliberately not given those technologies, but they weren't given technologies so that they could kind of monitor and control the cislunar region, which is the region around the Earth where the moon orbits. So anywhere around 350,000 kilometers outside of the earth, that was pretty much under the control of the Air Force and the NRO and the CIA, they monitored it all and worked closely with the Dark Fleet that also had bases on the moon.

Now, the Navy, they monitored all of that, and they kind of piggybacked on some of that. But they were able to keep a separate program, and they were very careful not to do anything to kind of lead to outright conflict with the Dark Fleet, because that that would be detrimental to everyone, because the Dark Fleet didn't want a civil war in the US, because as far as they were concerned, things were working fine for them.

The United States was this industrial behemoth. It was capable of building vast numbers of spacecraft using modern industrial production methods. And you didn't want to disrupt that by any kind of civil war. And the Navy, of course, didn't want to create a civil war either, because they knew that the Air Force was working and the CIA and NRO were working with the Draco Reptilians, because they wanted to kind of see what was going on. Very early on, the Navy was put in charge of the whole extraterrestrial phenomenon, not the Air Force, because the Air Force was the junior service. It only came into existence in 1947. But the Navy, because it had expertise on running integrated aircraft carrier groups, it knew how to develop space carrier groups.

Richard

Alright, so we are talking about this chapter in history where you had different allegiances different branches of the U.S. government and the military aligned with one group of ETs, the Galactic Federation, you had another branch aligned with the bad guys, the Draco's, which are like the Reptilians and the Orion syndicate. But then, you pointed out earlier that at a certain point, the Federation stepped in and got rid of these, these darker forces. When did that happen? When did the United States go all in with the Federation?

Dr. Salla

Well, the Navy has always been working with the Federation. And that has just grown over the decades. And I think a certain point was reached when it was decided that the Federation could step up and take direct action against the Draco Reptilians and the Orion collective. And that really happened probably in the last five years or so. That seems to have been when there was this kind of a transition, that for various reasons, we had reached this point where we could throw off this Dark Alliance or the Dark Fleet. It wasn't necessary anymore, that whatever was being gained through that association.

I think what the Navy was waiting for was that we would reach a certain point of technological development as a planet, where now we didn't need the Dark Alliance anymore, and that they could be kind of like, thrown off. And I think that's really what happened. And that was something that people within the kind of covert military agreed to that yes, it was time to kind of throw off that yoke and begin working much more with the Galactic Federation to kind of move to this new stage, where now there would be like a full disclosure of what is going on and that meant that the planet needs to be unified.

And so those groups that were bringing about this disunity, creating havoc on the planet, they needed to be booted off. So that's when the Galactic Federation began taking a much more energetic approach to expelling the Draco Reptilians and the others by destroying their underground bases and so forth.

Richard

Just quickly, the alien abduction phenomenon, was that part of the arrangement that the Air Force and other branches had with the Orions and the Draco's in exchange, they gave them permission, I guess, to collect genetic material or whatever they were doing in exchange for technology was that part of that agreement?

Dr. Salla

That was part of the agreement with the Orion's. Because there's a group called the Orion Greys. And they made their own separate agreement. So you had the Germans in Antarctica, working with the Draco Reptilians making agreements with the Eisenhower administration.

You also had these Orion Greys making agreements with the Eisenhower administration. And they were different. Because the Orion greys were much more into abduction and genetic experiments. So they wanted to abduct humans for conducting these genetic experiments, because that was something that they valued for a variety of reasons. Whereas the Draco and the Germans, they were more interested in mercenaries, they were more interested in super soldiers. So they really weren't into the whole abduction phenomenon. So we've got different alien groups there.

Richard

So then it would stand a reason then with the Federation basically coming in and kicking out the Orion and the Draco's does that mean that as of five years ago, the at least the negative type of alien abduction, if there's if there's a negative and a positive, but the negative type of alien abduction ended basically five years ago,

Dr. Salla

I believe that it has pretty much ended. I mean, there's still some, some groups that might be practicing these abductions. But as far as I'm aware that those abduction experiences have pretty much concluded, because the Orion Greys that were behind it have been forced to leave our solar system for the time being. Now, they might come back at some future stage. But the legacy is that there's a lot of genetic hybrids now on earth that are in some way, sympathetic or connected with your Ryan Gray's. So there's kind of like a fifth column now on earth, of beings that identify in critical ways with these off-world groups. David Jacobs, I think has done a really good job in describing the abduction phenomenon, and how it has now moved to this new phase, where you have these genetic hybrids that have reached the point now with large numbers of them can be on Earth can infiltrate, and can actually influence our progress as a civilization or our public policy in important ways.

So, yes it seems that these negative groups, even though they've been forced to leave the planet, they still have in place a lot of kind of fifth columnists, a lot of assets that still continue to work with them. So I think this is the way they work because as I understand it, these groups the Draco and the Orion greys are masters at that infiltration and subversion, so while the military have left, their kind of espionage or the political operatives are here.

Richard

Any idea how many in this fifth column, hybrids, there are?

Dr. Salla

Oh, well, yes, that's I'm going to have to defer to David Jacobs. But I think he's made some estimates of this. There have been millions of abductions in the United States alone. As a consequence of that, there have been these hybrids created now. I wouldn't be guessing as to how many here, but I know that the Galactic Federation has several thousand on planet Earth. So I wouldn't be surprised if you had kind of like, maybe not as many as that, but certainly a significant number may be in the hundreds or a few thousand of these hybrids of these Gray extraterrestrial hybrids.

Richard

Are they in communication, telepathic or otherwise with the Orions and, I don't know, are they conspiring to bring the Orions and the Dracos back?

Dr. Salla

Totally. Yes, that's exactly what's happening. The Orions and the Dracos have left our solar system, but their assets, their genetic hybrids are here. And, in many cases, these hybrids, while they might have a human looking body, because their genetics have been altered to incorporate the human genome, there's enough in there in terms of Gray or Reptilian genetics, where an Orion Gray or a Draco can incarnate in that body. And so they are the ideal operatives because now they're in a human body and they can pass unnoticed in human society.

But you actually have a Draco or a Gray Orion Gray in the human body, and that they still communicate with, are connected telepathically, with their cousins wherever they're hiding now, whether it's somewhere in our solar system, or outside our solar system. See [Nov. 26 2022 update]

Richard

So, now that the Galactic Federation is basically the dominant, I guess, the dominant off-planet force, and the Draco's and the Orions are off-planet and in exile. Why do we still have I don't know the some people, some people call them the Illuminati, or whatever, whatever sinister forces out there that is trying to institute some kind of dystopian future for mankind, if you want to call it the great reset, the Davos crowd and so forth. Are they in allegiance with the Draco's and the Greys? Or who are they?

Dr. Salla

Well, they're the former minions of the Draco's and the Greys. And because they are known to have worked with these groups for a long time, and did many terrible things to subvert human society. I mean, the crimes that they've committed are kind of like unspeakable, a huge litany of things that many people can recite much better than I. Certainly these are the minions of these groups.

And once these groups decided to leave Earth, the minions were left. They weren't taken. So they had everything to lose if all of this was exposed, if there was disclosure, and the truth came out about agreements have been reached to allow abductions of hundreds of thousands or even millions of people from all over the world, that there were these horrible experimentation projects happening all over the world where people were subjected to horrific abuses treated like lab rats and so forth. So they these minions, they didn't want to give up power, because they knew that they would basically be exposed, and they would face a terrible consequence.

So they're fighting as hard as they can to maintain as much power.

But the big problem that they have is that their extraterrestrial allies that provided them the superior technology, the looking glass technology, the projections and the power to kind of like outwit the positive Earth guys, the Earth Alliance, if you call them that, or the White Hats. They're gone, they've left the planet, and now the planet is surrounded by these more positive extraterrestrial groups.

So the minions are fighting, this is their last stand, which is why things have become so dire because and it's so obvious, because anyone looking at the policies of what has happened over the last two years is that well you look at 2019, how many people believed that there was a world elite trying to subjugate the population for nefarious purposes?

And probably you would have had the tinfoil hat category of maybe, maybe 1% of the population? Well, now, maybe there's like 30%, a majority of Republicans believe that there is a sinister, Deep State that stole the 2020 election, that has done all these things, in terms of the COVID, and the vaccines and all of that, and that they are steering humanity down this very dark path.

So, yes, that's now mainstream. That's only happened, because these minions are desperate, like they have no way of stopping this awakening that is happening now. So The effect of the repressive policies and pushing this World Economic Forum agenda is that in the short space of two years, you've awakened 30% of the population all over the world, that there is this Deep State that is trying to bring about this nefarious agenda. And so their time is coming to an end, because just too many people now know and believe that this agenda is real. There is a deep state. The World Economic Forum is run by crooks, and that they are acting to take away the civil liberties of people all over the planet.

Richard

When you listen to the Davos crowd, and their version of the future this whole, you'll own nothing, and you'll be happy. And there'll be smart cities and stacked housing and everyone will be riding around on mono rails, no private cars, were going to transition away from dirty fossil fuels or hydrocarbons into renewable energy. I mean, their version that they're offering up almost sounds like Star Trek. I mean, are they deceiving us? Or?

Dr. Salla

Yes, it is deception because really what they're doing is, they're bringing about a transhumanist agenda, where they want to turn us into cyborgs where they can control every aspect of our lives. You can you can imagine, I mean, look at look at what's happening now on social media, or platforms like YouTube, Twitter, Facebook, where anyone that descends from the mainstream narrative gets booted off, they get censored, or they get deplatformed or they, they can't make money through the Paypal or Stripe platforms and so that's what's happening now.

This is only a taste of what would happen. Imagine if you had a like a truly transhumanist agenda where people have implants that are put into them. And that's the only way that you can use the subway or you can get on a plane, or you can kind of like, access your paycheck or whatever. You have to wear this chip. And then you're totally controlled by the people that control the technology. They control you. They could at any point, deactivate that chip and make it impossible for you to buy food or travel. They can deplatform you from anywhere where you're kind of spreading your information.

So that's where the New World Order crowd wants to take us. It's very far away from the kind of utopian Star Trek future that Gene Roddenberry was putting out through the Star Trek which really was acknowledging human freedom and civil liberties and promoting a peaceful interaction between people, not because you were superimposing an old kind of Orwellian superstate through advanced technology that would monitor every thought, every action that we do. But it would be because people would be lifted out of poverty, where there the basic human needs were satisfied. And now it's only higher order needs, like self-actualization and self-realization that become important for people.

Richard

Does the Davos crowd have the looking glass technology?

Dr. Salla

Definitely, yes, they've had that for a long time. I mean, they were probably some of the first ones to get their hands on that technology. But the problem that they have is that their technology can only look ahead in terms of probabilities. And if they're looking ahead, they're trying to nurture a future reality that they get to bring about this kind of like Orwellian super state where people are controlled by chips and the transhumanist agenda is the dominant way in which humanity lives all across the planet. Maybe that had a possibility of 30% of coming into fruition. But now, because of everything they've done, that's got like 15%.

And this is a problem they have, that everything they try now whether it's coming up with a new contrived, a new false flag operation rather than enhancing the possibility of their desired future outcome, it diminishes that. Whereas the possibility of a Star Trek future because of all of these failed policies like they've now like, coming across with this with the pandemic, and the plandemic that's awakened, so many people, doctors, the medical community, who before this happening, and none of them would have been interested in this whole kind of Star Trek future in Secret Space Programs, as of now, they're kind of like much more open to this stuff, because their logic takes them to this place. Well, why is this being done? So now, that future possibility has gone from maybe say 40% to now 70%. And everything that the Deep State does [postulates] they look at their looking glass technology, say, "Well, let's try this, let's try that."

Richard

To affect a timeline, to alter the timeline.

Dr. Salla

Everything that they try to alter the timeline backfires. So this is their dilemma, even though they have Looking Glass technology, and only looks at future possibilities. And, and you can try and do something to bring that about, but if your future possibility only has a likelihood of like 30% or 20% of coming about, and you do something to maybe strengthen that, you end up doing the opposite.

Richard

So let's take a look at where this is all heading with the Galactic Federation. They've chased off the Draco's and the Orion syndicate. Their foot soldiers, I guess is what to call them, the elites of the Davos crowd, they have the look Looking Glass technology, but they're losing, they're getting increasingly desperate. Their vision of a sort of dystopian future is not likely to happen as more and more people awaken. So where is this headed? Is there a timeline for the Galactic Federation to make themselves known? What are the signposts along the way?

Dr. Salla

Well, that's a fascinating question. There are a few people that are in contact with the Galactic Federation that are some of the sources that I've been interviewing. And they've given me estimates that we're talking 2023 is going to be a really critical year for all this breaking, that this information is not going to be withheld for that much longer, that we're not really looking at too much time. I think, for some of this to start coming out.

Now, they might begin with some announcement like the James Webb Space Telescope has detected techno signatures and in some distant solar system, and that extraterrestrial life has been found in a distant solar system, which would really be a kind of like an ideal way of breaking it to people in a way that would not be too disruptive.

And so then you've opened the door, then it's just a series of more announcements that are okay, like, "contact is being made with some of these groups, we're communicating with them in some other solar system," and then they can say that "they've actually arrived, that they are here,"

I think what we won't see for some time, is that any admission by government or by military saying, "the ETs have been here for 70 years, and we've been covering it up from you."

That they're not going to admit that because that will destabilize things, what they're going to do is try and frame it all as something brand new, like "Space Force or U.S. Space Command has encountered as a consequence of new technology that has just been brought online with Space Command, has these new anti-gravity craft that allows them to go far into our solar system has found on the moons of Jupiter, the remnants of an extraterrestrial civilization."

And so I think that's what we can expect that things will be kind of like leading up, because I think the important thing about the way I would contrast the White Hats, the Earth Alliance with the Deep State crowd, is that what the White Hats and the Earth Alliance want the transition to a Star Trek future being a smooth and harmonious one.

The Deep State, the Dark Hats, they want it to be a very disruptive one and full of surprises and twists and turns that would shock and confuse people. But that's not the way in which I think it's going to happen, I think it's going to happen in a way that's well thought out and planned to gradually get people up to speed where you begin with someone else, but extraterrestrial life is real.

And then you kind of go through and then you start releasing some advanced technology, because that's going to give people a lot of confidence that we've got Space Command, Space Force that has this really cool anti-gravity, torsion field propulsion systems that have enabled them to travel throughout our solar system really quickly.

That'll give people confidence, because that's one of the key things that the military wants. They don't want to disclose that the existence of extraterrestrial life and lead to a collapse in public confidence in the ability of the Pentagon to protect American citizens from extraterrestrial life. They want people to believe that the Pentagon has, within its resources, the means to protect Americans from anything. So they're going to roll out the advanced technology, they can declare extraterrestrial life that exists out there somewhere.

And in the process, they're going to build up public confidence that, wow, we've got these really cool space technologies that Space Force is deploying and that Space Command is using.

And then I think you're going to have an acceleration of announcements that are extraterrestrial life is very real. And they are going to say that, yes, we've made contact. Contact has recently been made with this Galactic Federation.

Richard

In terms of rolling out the technology, I mean, if we're dealing with spiritually evolved entities here, it's hard to imagine that they could sit back and watch people suffer from cancer and all sorts of different diseases and famine and starvation.

What is the timeline for this? Why aren't they rolling out this technology, like now, yesterday, and what types of technology are you hearing about?

Dr. Salla

Well, there are advanced technologies, healing technologies that are being developed that are being prepared for mass distribution once there are some major disclosures that happen.

I think that the only roadblock at the moment is this kind of Davos crowd agenda, that these minions are doing everything they can to disrupt things. Now, one of their big sources of revenue is the pharmaceutical industry and the pharmaceutical industry has prevented a lot of these advanced technologies from coming into the public arena.

I mean, you only have to look at to the US Patent and Trademark Office and know that almost 6000 patents have been withheld on the national security audits by the different intelligence organizations in the United States. So that's 6000 inventions, that the majority of those deal with things like healing that have been suppressed, because some corporation or some intelligence group says that this is something that would threaten national security if we release this into the public arena.

So this is what's been going on, for going back to the time of Nikola Tesla in the early 1900s. So these advanced healing technologies have been suppressed, because of the power of the pharmaceutical industry to shut down people and to twist the curricula and the research priorities of universities, I mean, every university in the major country, I mean, pharmaceutical industries have penetrated them, where professors are given grants to do studies on this particular cocktail healing people and that and anyone wanting to do well what are the benefits of herbs, or kind of like juicing or kind of electromagnetic healing technologies, those things are blocked from any kind of research grants.

If you try and write a paper, for a peer-reviewed journal, the editors will block you from doing that, because they get funding from the pharmaceutical industry. So if someone will lean on you and say, "No, you can't publish that paper. It's unscientific." And so that's, so that's why these advanced healing technologies have been withheld for so long. So the whole pharmaceutical medical complex is corrupt to its core, and it has to be changed tremendously. And doctors curriculum needs to be changed incredibly quickly as well, because they've just been trained to be the middleman for the pharmaceutical industry.

Richard

So it's Star Trek, here we come. And I'm not sure we don't know exactly the when that will arrive, but it's going to begin in earnest in terms of gradual disclosure, in 2023. Dr. Michael Salla, thank you so much for hanging out for the last two hours.

Dr. Salla

It's been a pleasure, Richard, thanks for having me. I'm at exopolitics.org and the book is Galactic Federation Council's and Secret Space Programs. (Latest Book 7 in the Series)

Secret Space Programs (7 book series)

